Our Stories

HTY'S 64TH SEASON

Dear Educator:

With your help, over 100,000 students in Hawaii will enjoy professional theatre as a part of their school day!

From true tales of Hawaiian cowboys to a new take on the most read children's book in the world, we are staging stories we hope will enhance the wonderful work already going on in your classrooms.

We hope you will consider adding an additional field trip to your school year to truly take advantage of the breadth of work we are producing in HTY's 64th Season. We would be delighted to work with your school to see how to make that possible.

Our stories define us. They teach us about our culture and our world. Just as importantly, stories different from our own experience can become our's through empathy. We look forward to working with you to help our students better understand the past and imagine the future.

Eric Johnson
Artistic Director

by Alvin Chan and the HTY Ensemble

World Premiere!

A celebration of the many rich cultural traditions of the Philippines, this production combines music, dance, design and story to illuminate one of the largest and most important communities in Hawaii. These traditional stories offer wise and humorous solutions to everything from standing up to bullies to outwitting the sky.
